HOPKINSVILLE KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1916.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Mayfield has adopted a chicken ordinance.

Court of Appeals met yesterday for the spring term.

Democrats in Illinois, Kansas and Oklahoma endorsed Wilson Tuesday.

Gov. E. W. Major, of Missouri, has a vice presidential bee in his bonnet.

Pike county evidently wants pikes. A half million dollar bond issue is to be voted on May 6.

Rufus H. Vansant announces that he is not a candidate for chairman of the Democratic State committee.

Jas. H. Spralding, of Preston, Arizona, member of the State Democratic Committee, died Monday, of tuberculosis.

Make your back yard the most beautiful part of your premises. It can be done with a few shrubs and flower beds.

Four Democrats voted with the Republicans in the Senate to extend the present duty of 1 cent a pound on sugar to 1920.

There are now 12,000 soldiers in Mexico and 18,000 on the border. Only 4,000 other troops are elsewhere in the United States.

Ollie James and Owsley Stanley got harmony as soon as they let it be known that they were going to have it, even if they had to fight for it.

Nicaragua has ratified the treaty with the United States giving exclusive canal rights for $3,000,000. The treaty includes a coaling station on Fonseca bay.

There is still a difference of opinion as to the English pronunciation of Villa's name. It will get the proper pronunciation when an "n" is put to the bandit, name and all.

Dr. David B. Teem, who conducted a chiropractic adjustory at Sherman, Tex., has been arrested on a charge of murdering one of his patients, Miss Aline Walker, by "rolling, pounding, beating and pressing her in a grossly ignorant manner."

Rev. W. B. Harvey, representative from Webster county has sued the Paducah News-Democrat for $20,000 for alleged libelous publications. Certain uncomplimentary remarks are pointed out in an article criticising a rough house raised in the legislature, that Mr. Harvey thinks referred to him.

That Democratic harmony in Kentucky is making for an old-fashioned majority, with Gov. Stanley as convention chairman, and the endorsement of the State and National Administrations and lack of opposition to Gen. Haldeman for National Committeeman was the sentiment of Senator James upon his return to Washington from Kentucky.

Manager Stockley has something coming April 28 as a T. P. A. special that will make the drummers sit up and take notice. It is the famous picture "Undine." Will Forbes is the only man in town who has seen it and he says he can look at it again without loss of interest. There are said to be 30 ladies in the show, whose swimming costumes are less cumbersome than Annette Kellerman's in "Neptune's Daughter."

DR. THOMPSON IN NASHVILLE.

Dr. C. M. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist church of Hopkinsville, Ky., arrived here last (Monday) night to assist in conducting the revival at the South Side Baptist church, preaching his first sermon there Monday night. Dr. Thompson was formerly editor of the Western Recorder, a strong Baptist denominational journal, and he is known as a profound student and able speaker. Preaching will begin at 7:30 o'clock each night, and Dr. Thompson will be here about two weeks.—Banner.

SLADE AND PROF. CHAPIN

Visiting the Poultry Clubs This Week and Are Much Pleased.

MR. SLADE'S BIG PRAISE Says Christian County's Plan Is Being Watched All Over the State.

The Monday night meeting of the Christian County Poultry Improvement Association was a well attended affair and much interest was taken in the illustrated lecture given by Prof. A. S. Chapin, director in charge of Boys and Girls Poultry Clubs.

Prof. Chapin is still very enthusiastic over the prospects of success in standardizing the poultry interests of Christian county and is well pleased with the progress of the work started by Mrs. Eloise N. Graves, County Demonstrator.

Mrs. Graves has under her supervision ninety-three children, which is fifty per cent more than any other county in the State, and while Prof. Chapin had set his figures at sixty members, he has approved of the larger number in Christian county on account of the hearty co-operation.

Mrs. Graves is receiving from the school teachers over the county. He does not think that more children can be handled successfully and on account of the lateness of the season for hatching, insists that no more children be enrolled.

Prof. Chapin said that in his lectures in other counties he told them of the work being done in Christian county and advised them to follow the plans being worked out here in standardization. The influence of Christian county is spreading over the state and he looks for a great improvement in poultry raising in other counties as the direct result of the work of the Christian County Poultry Improvement Association.

The lecture at the H. B. M. A. was illustrated with sixty views, many of them views on Kentucky farms. The lecture dealt with management, poultry house construction, feeding and club work and many points were made of value to poultry breeders.

Prof. Chapin, Mrs. Graves and County Agriculturalist Casey will visit as many clubs during the week as the time allotted will permit. Edwards' Mill was visited Tuesday night, at which place a large crowd heard Mr. Chapin's lecture.

To-night the lecture will be given in the school building at Pembroke. The meeting Tuesday night at Edwards' Mill was attended by over a hundred people, who listened attentively to the speakers.

On account of the absence from Cadiz of the Trigg County Agricultural Agent, Prof. D. D. Slade came direct to Hopkinsville from Caldwell county and arrived here in time to be present at Edwards' Mill. His talk was well received and of much value to his listeners. He told of the notoriety that Christian county was gaining over the state and said we were the most talked of county in the state, that the plans of standardization were being copied by other counties, five counties already getting busy along the lines of work being done here. He predicts that the Christian county plan will spread over the entire state and be adopted by all poultry raising counties.

Prof. Chapin gave an illustrated lecture on management, care of chicks, building brood coops and selection of breeding stock.

Mrs. Graves talked of Poultry and Canning Club work and County Agriculturalist Casey spoke of the work with Corn and Pig Clubs.

Wednesday several farmers on the Nashville pike who are co-operating with the Christian County Association in the standardizing plan were visited by the experts.

The Wednesday night meeting was held at Casky and the meeting to-night will be at Pembroke.

$13,000 OF TARVIA STS.

Ordered By The City Commissioners at Tuesday's Session.

OWNERSHIP DISCUSSED Expert On Contracts To Be Conferred With In Light and Water Matters.

The City Commissioners met Tuesday morning and the leading feature was a discussion of the question of public utilities. An adjournment until afternoon was taken to have Mr. Weiss, an expert in electric, water and similar municipal contracts, confer with the commissioners on contracts about to be renewed. Engineer Norcross, who was here not long ago, submitted a report on the sewerage investigation he made. He approves the present private system, but says it should have flushes at the head of the mains and that service should be extended to all parts of the city. He criticizes some of the extensions as not of a permanent nature. He recommends a purchase of the plant in 1920, if it cannot be done before by agreement.

Expenditure of about $13,000 in tarvia street improvements was ordered and appropriation made to cover same. The streets ordered improved were: North Main from Fifth to the city limits; West Seventh from Jessup avenue to city limits; Liberty from Seventh to Tenth streets; Seventh from Virginia to L & N railroad.

The expense of hiring teams at $3.50 per day was stopped and the commissioners decided to buy four mules, one wagon and four sets of harness. The city already owns one extra wagon that can be used.

L. R. Crawley was awarded a contract to paint the three bridges, i. e., on West Seventh street, on Second street and on North Main at his bid of $90 for the job.

The Methodist, Westminster and First Christian churches and the Y. M. C. A., were exempted from payment of property assessments made in 1912 when the litholithic surfacing was done on Ninth street.

CLARENCE STERRETT DEAD.

Clarence Sterrett, formerly editor of the Hawesville Clarion, and at one time mayor of Hawesville, died at Pine Bluff, Ark., this week, aged 52 years, of appendicitis. Two years ago he sold out his paper and moved to Louisville for a year. Last year he removed to Pine Bluff, where he engaged in newspaper work until he died.

ABSENTEES PUT UP KICK

Over the Election of V. M. Williamson as G. O. P. Leader.

V. M. WILLIAMSON.

A protest is to be made to the republican state executive committee as the result of the election of V. M. Williamson as chairman, Walter Robinson, colored, as secretary, and T. B. Fairleigh, as treasurer, of the local executive committee, which was done Saturday afternoon. It is claimed that only ten accredited delegates attended the meeting which elected the officers, and that it takes a majority of the committee, composed of one representative from each of the thirty-two precincts in the county, to form a quorum. This is the point upon which the state committee will be asked to pass, what number does make a legal quorum. Some of those who took part in the election are said to be ready to sign the petition now asking that it be set aside and a new election ordered. Mr. Williamson was the last Republican postmaster here and was chairman of County Committee prior to his appointment as postmaster.

DEATH FOLLOWS BRIEF ILLNESS

Mrs. John Hancock Passes Away at Her Home in Edgerton.

The wife of Mr. John Hancock, Tennessee Central railroad section foreman, died Sunday night at her home in Edgerton. She had been ill about two weeks with inflammation of the stomach. Mrs. Hancock was about 45 years old. Her husband and six children survive. The deceased was reared near Harriman, Tenn., and the remains were taken to that place Monday for interment.

The mikado is going to build a $38,000,000 hotel in Tokio.

VILLA CHASE CLOSING IN

Bandit May Be Dead Or Hidden In Desperate Straits.

CLIMAX EXPECTED SOON

Apache Scouts, Armed With Sun Goggles And Wrist Watches.

El Paso, Tex., Apr. 12.—The pursuit of Francisco Villa probably will be brought to a conclusion within forty-eight hours, according to information received here to-day by an American mining concessionaire with large interests at Parral and Torreon. The messages received stated that the report that Villa was dead was current throughout southern Chihuahua and northern Durango and while it was far from confirmed, it was expected that definite news would be received within the next few days.

The report of Villa's death was accepted as highly probable by Gen. Bertani, the Carranza commander at Casas Grandes, who now is in Juarez.

"There is only one doctor in the country where Villa now is, said Gen. Bertani, "and if blood poisoning has set in in Villa's wounded leg, as my information has it, this doctor can do nothing even if he has a chance. Witnesses who saw Villa told me his left leg was shattered by a fall from his horse, following his being wounded by a bullet. They say his leg was in bad shape, swollen and gangrenous."

Gen. Bertani said that Villa had not more than fifty men with him. The Villa band which his troops encountered in the Maderia section yesterday, consisted of twenty-three members, of whom fourteen were taken prisoners. The survivors, carrying their wounded, escaped into the hills.

"Villa's forces consist now of only a few handfuls," commented Bertani. "They will have to be hunted down like ordinary escaped criminals."

The Apache scouts have gone into Mexico from Columbus, it was learned here last night. Led by Peaches, the captor of Geronomo, they started south on top of motor trucks. Each Apache wore sun goggles and a wrist watch.

The three leaders of the Diaz plot to seize Juarez and overthrow the Carranza garrison there last Sunday were executed by the firing squad in Juarez early Tuesday. They were Nicholas Chavarria, Jose Inez Borrel and Florencio Hernandez. The condemned men confessed the plot before they were executed. Other Mexicans were implicated.

ATTACKED AND CUT

Walter Cox Injured In Memphis By Man Whom He Discharged.

Walter Cox, son of Mr. W. H. Cox, was cut in the throat last Friday in Memphis, Tenn., by a workman employed under him. Mr. Cox is foreman in a lumber establishment in that city and the man with whom he had trouble was not giving satisfaction. Mr. Cox gave him his time and instructed him to report at the office for settlement, when the man pulled a knife and cut Mr. Cox from ear to ear, it is said. The wound is a very painful one, but he was getting along as well as could be expected at last accounts.

Largest Tobacco Order.

New York, April 12.—An order for 20,000,000 pounds of American tobacco for delivery to European government, principally France and Italy, was executed here April 8 by the firm of Garton, Williams & Wigmore. The order is said to be the largest of its kind ever placed in this country.

FRENCH LIKE STONE WALL

Are Standing In Sixth Week of Verdun Teuton Siege.

NEWS ON OTHER FRONTS

Germans Gain Near Dead Man's Hill but Are Repulsed.

London, April 12.—The armies of the German crown prince around Verdun are still vigorously on the offensive against the French.

Having delivered an attack along the line from Le Mort Homme to Cumieres which netted them a few small portions French trenches on the east of Le Mort Homme, the German commanders rested their infantry here but in the region of Douaumont-Vaux, northeast of Verdun, threw, their men in large numbers against the French. Here again they met with success, but only for a short period of time, for the French in a counter-attack drove the invaders from advanced sections of trenches they had captured and in the operation took about 100 German prisoners.

While the Douaumont-Vaux attack was in progress the Germans had not overlooked the line between Le Mort Homme and Cumieres and covered the entire region with an intense artillery fire, probably preparing for another attack by infantry.

GERMAN COLUMN IS BOMBarded.

Along the remainder of the front in France and Belgium, there were only artillery bombardments. In one of these—north of the Aisne—the French guns caused serious losses to a strong German column on the march.

In the Russian theater an attempt by the Germans to take the offensive in the region of the Ikskull bridge-head was stopped by the Russians. The big guns of both sides have been busy at various points elsewhere along the front.

Petrograd reports that the Russians are continuing to gain ground against the Turks in the region of Erzerum. Unofficial advices are to the effect that the Turks have re-grouped their forces and now are resisting stubbornly the three Russian main lines of advance into their territory.

AUSTRIANS USE NEW ARTILLERY.

The Austrians between the Adige and Sugani valley have brought into the campaign artillery which is described by Rome as new and very powerful.

The Italian guns, however, have replied effectively to their fire. No infantry attacks are reported in this theater of the war.

WOMAN BITTEN BY A DOG

One Hand and a Limb Lacerated by the Animal.

Mrs. Amber Harris, who resides about a mile west of the city, on the Butler road, was bitten on the hand and leg by a dog a few days ago. The dog, which it is said belongs to Pete Stewart, col., attacked the lady as she was passing the owner's house. The animal was killed and the head sent to Bowling Green to be examined in order to determine whether or not it had rabies. Stewart was arrested on a charge of keeping a vicious dog.

to prove that everything Irvin S.
Cobb said about Chief Paduke could be and is true. The map, which is in possession of Attorney J. Denis Mocquot, is on exhibition in Weille's window at Paducah. One of the tribes was in North Dakota and the others in Kansas. The fact that there has been a controversy between Chicagoans, Irvin Cobb and local newspapermen regarding the existence or non-existence of a Chief Paduke, makes Mr. Mocquot's discovery of the map, among some priceless relics, all the more interesting.

HOW TO GROW BLACKBERRIES

Fruit Will Not Thrive in Dry Places.
Plenty of Moisture Is Needed—
Cultivate Constantly.

Blackberries need plenty of moisture and it will not pay to plant them on the top of some dry knoll; for the fruit will not grow to perfection in such dry places, and it will be hard and sour. Choose a place where the ground is of good quality, and where there is plenty of moisture.

Prepare the ground thoroughly by plowing and harrowing before planting, and make the ground mellow down quite deep where you set the plants. You cannot be too particular in this respect—remember you are setting them out for profit and not simply to see whether they will grow or not.
They should be set about four feet apart one way, and eight feet the other way.

Keep the ground loose by constant cultivation, and the sooner you can get a good large bush, the sooner you will get fruit, and keeping the ground loose will help to keep it moist.

Hurt Milk Business.

Before anyone condemns the dairy business, he should make an effort to keep real cows and feed and care for them so they will make a profit. A few of the "weak sisters" meandering around in cows' hides are what put the kibosh on the dairy business.

The Dry Cow.

Some cows should go dry longer than others, but every cow will need a season of rest of at least a month or six weeks. It will be better for her and her unborn calf.

Dangers of Draft.

Drafts feel best when we are hot and perspiring, just when they are most dangerous and the result is Neuralgia, Stiff Neck, Sore Muscles or sometimes an attack of Rheumatism. In such cases apply Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the sore and painful part. The blood flows freely and in a short time the stiffness and pain leaves. Those suffering from Neuralgia or Neuralgic Headache will find one or two applications of Sloan's Liniment will give grateful relief. The agonizing pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth and quiet rest a d 'sleep is possible!

CHURNING IN COLD WEATHER

Many General Considerations Which Apply in All Cases—Cooling Temperature Varies.

It is difficult to lay down hard and fast rules for churning, because there are so many factors that will change conditions, but there are many general considerations which apply in all cases. As soon as the cream is ripe, which can be determined by the glossy appearance when stirred, or when the acidity has reached about five per cent, it should be cooled to the churning temperature and kept at least eight hours before churning. This holding period gives the fat globules time to contract uniformly so that they will churn completely, thereby minimizing the loss of fat in the buttermilk. It is customary to ripen one day and cool down in the evening for churning the next morning. The cooling temperature varies with the conditions of the cream and season, and should be from 50 degrees in the summer to 60 degrees in the winter.

The churning temperature varies from 55 to 65 degrees F. Use a low temperature when cream is very sour, when it is rich in fat, when fat globules are soft due to laxative feeds fed to cows, and during hot weather. When the conditions are opposite to those above use a high churning temperature. Cream is at the proper temperature when the butter comes in 30 or 40 minutes. Too high a temperature is less desirable than too low a one because it results in a greasy butter of poor texture, and one that has a high buttermilk content, causing it to deteriorate rapidly.

As the cream is added to the churn
it should be passed through a finely-perforated strainer. This will remove particles of curd and also any foreign matter. A churn that is one-third to one-half full will churn the cream more completely and in shorter time than when the churn is overloaded.

SWINE BETTER THAN CATTLE

Knowledge Comes From Practical Experience Rather Than From the Study of Records.

Every experienced stockman knows that the pig comes first in a list of farm animals as an economical meat maker. This knowledge, in most cases, comes from practical experience rather than from the study of records made in experimental work. In connection with such problems as this, facts and figures are always more or less interesting, and those that are available show strongly in favor of the pig.

In experiments carried on at the Lawes and Gilbert station in England, matters of this kind were threshed out to the very bottom. The result of twenty-seven experiments carried on with cattle indicated that it required an average of thirteen pounds of dry substance to produce one pound increase in live weight. It was found that sheep required an average of 9.2 pounds of dry substance to produce a pound of gain, while the hog required but 4.8 pounds of dry substance to produce one pound of increased weight.
To determine this result, thirty-three experiments were carried on with pigs, and 104 animals were fed out for an average of fifty-eight days.

Should Always Include a Legume.

A short-crop rotation should be planned for best results in the building-up process, and clover or some other legume always included. Apply manure at least once in the rotation if it is available. Take the best care of the manure when it is produced. It is valuable. Good average barnyard manure is worth at least $2.25 per ton for the fertility it contains.

PREVENT SAGGING OF FENCES

Stay Invented Which Serves Purpose
Admirably—Made of a Long Piece of Wire Bent Double.

To keep barbed-wire and similar fences from sagging between the posts, a stay has been invented which apparently serves its purpose adequately. It is made of a long piece of wire bent double, hairpinlike, with one end twisted spirally about the other, which remains straight. At intervals there are small loops through which the fence wires may pass. The top of the device is looped while at the bottom are the two free ends of the wire. In placing it on a fence, the top wire of the latter is straddled by the forked end of the stay, which is then pushed down like an auger, the lower fence wires being inserted between the two prongs as they are reached. The operation requires only a moment's time, so that several hundred of the stays may be put in place in one day.—Popular Mechanics.

BRUSH DAIRY COW EACH DAY

Any Animal Suspected of Being in Bad Health Should Be Removed From Herd—Keep Barn Clean.

The cow should be brushed with a good stiff brush daily. Any cow suspected of being in bad health should be promptly removed from the herd and the milk rejected. Fresh, palatable feedstuffs should be fed and feed should never be changed suddenly. Water in abundance, easy of access and always pure, fresh but not too cold, should be provided at all times. Salt, too, should always be accessible.

The barn should be kept clean and the stables whitewashed once or twice every six months. No dry, dusty feed should be used just before milking. The stables should be cleaned and aired thoroughly before milking. Ventilation and light are absolutely necessary. No strong smelling material should be left in the stables for any length of time. Musty and dirty litter should never be used.

When the cows are milked the milk should be removed at once, strained and aerated. Cleanliness is a good preventive to keep milk from souring at once.

INCENTIVE TO RAISE SWINE

Farmer Should Not Only Provide Meat for His Own Table, But Have Some for the Market.

The price of hogs continues to climb and bacon and hams are keeping right close touch with the advance. This is going to work a hardship on many a man who has been in the habit of enjoying these products. With the farmer, however, it should be an incentive to raise hogs not only to provide meat for his own table, but to have some for the market. There is both good living and money in it.

Banana Supplanting Apple. There is no doubt that the banana has, to a considerable extent, displaced the apple, and if the latter fruit is to hold its own, more care must be taken, not only in its cultivation but in its attractive appearance in the city markets.

ROUGHAGE FOR FARM HORSES

Both Clover and Alfalfa Are Excellent When Fed Judiciously—Timothy Is Most Popular.

Like oats, timothy is considered by many horsemen indispensable to the best horse rations, but this is by no means the case. Of the most available of the hays, timothy is the lowest in digestible nutrients. Its great popularity as a horse feed is due to the fact that it is usually brighter and freer from dust than the other hays, also it is most relished by the horse. However, either clover, or alfalfa hay, if fed judiciously, will make good roughage for farm horses.

Alfalfa has a nutritive ration of about 1.4, that is to say it is very high in protein, and about as high in fats and carbohydrates as timothy. Because of its high protein content it has a slightly laxative effect, but this may be overcome by cutting the alfalfa late in the bloom. Under this condition it makes a most excellent horse feed for brood mares and colts, and it can also be fed with great profit to farm work horses. The horses relish the hay and hold their weight, and even gain under steady work. They also show as much mettle and vitality as though they were fed timothy.

Clover is another excellent roughage. In fact, many horsemen have found it more valuable than timothy hay. It has a high nutritive value, and is very palatable. In a certain case a number of horses doing ordinary work were maintained on clover for several years without any grain allowance. The objections raised to clover are that it is usually too dusty, and too rich in protein for driving horses.

Panama Tapir.

Tapir furnishes the best food of all the animals in the Panama jungle, but it is also the most difficult animal to shoot or capture. It is called vaca montana (mountain cow) by the natives, but in fact it resembles more a large pig with short legs, brown, short-haired hide, short ears, a stump tail and a prehensile lip. It has three toes on the hind feet and four on the front. It has a keen sense of hearing and of smell and any unusual presence in the jungle is detected at once. Its skull and breast are so strongly built that the densest jungle proves no bar to its progress. To shoot one the hunter must be quicker than with a deer, for the tapir has no curiosity and runs at the first hint of danger. At bay it fights with its forefeet, and no dog of the jungle will attack it. It is easily domesticated when taken young and grows to maturity without becoming savage.

Queer Salutations.

The prostration and the salutation that many Orientals use, are only more pronounced forms of the bow. So there is a connection between the embrace, so common in civilized countries, and the greeting of a member of the Koli tribe of British New Guinea, who, in saluting a missionary, placed one arm about his neck and stroked him under the chin. Among the Masal and the Ukerewe, it is a mark of respect to greet an acquaintance or a stranger by spitting at him. Almost as strange is the custom ascribed to the Tibetans of sticking out the tongue by way of salutation. Rubbing noses is quite common. The Burmese and many tribes of Eskimos, Laplanders and Malays do so.

Argentina consumes 50,000 tons yearly of Brazilian tea.

DO WE NEED GOOD ROADS?

Why Bobby, Answering the Lure of Travel, Climbed a Tree to View Distant Lands in the Next Lot, and How He Learned His First Lesson on the Advantages of Traveling on a Good Road.

When Bobby climbed a tree in his back yard to get a glimpse of foreign lands beyond the hill, he unconsciously answered the call of the road.

He wanted to travel. Later, the lure of the road still pulling, he salled forth like a valiant knight of old, riding a stick horse, made a gallant dash of many leagues across the pasture, took mental notes on the new land, put the lash to his steed, and was back at the kitchen door in time for supper, travel worn, and hungry. He tracked up the kitchen with his muddy boots and got spanked, and there learned his first lesson on the advantages of traveling on a good road.

Not every one of course is interested in Bobby and his earlier travels, but we thought that perhaps you might be interested, so we have used in an illustrative way, this incident from a little boy's life—an incident which you can match in your own life—to lure you on to reading the answer to the question:

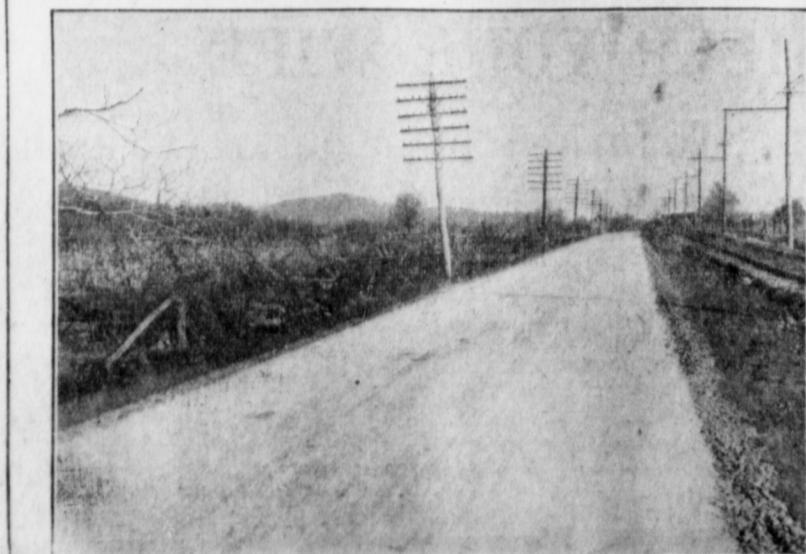

"Do we need good roads?"

It should be unnecessary to ask a question like this in any community in the United States to-day. We should be so far ahead of that stage in community building, that to ask such a question would at once mark our own position far back in the ranks of citizenship. However that may be, we must ask the question, because bad roads are still with us and our community life will not speed up until our community machinery is "limbered up." Our roads are the belts and pulleys to this machinery. They transmit our social, educational and agricultural power. If these belts and pulleys are "gummed up" they pull slowly and irregularly, and our social, educational and agricultural life is "gummed up" in like proportion. There is no escaping this truth.

We know that travel educates, but too often we use the word travel in the sense that we must get way off yonder somewhere before the education begins to "seep in," when as a matter of fact the need for travel is right here at home. We need closer communication—need to know each other better; and there is nothing in this world which will more quickly break down the barriers of isolation and monotony of the farm than easy and smooth traveling.

We do need good roads. There is really no reason to argue on this subject among ourselves. This need is a fact as hard and as solid as a concrete road. But we need to have impressed upon our minds the intensity of this need for better highways and to have this need impressed so deeply that we will act instead of talk, and thus put our community on the basis, as financiers would say, of a going concern. If we continue to talk without action, good statistics show that at least 70 per cent of the automobiles manufactured recently have found their way to the country, hence the rural dweller has not only been given the opportunity, but developed a greater desire to travel to-day than ever before. Moreover, he has seen good roads and now appreciates the absolute necessity for them, and for their further extension in his community.

One of the most recent proofs of why we should have better roads comes from Ohio, where highway enthusiasts point to the fact that these counties where roads have not been improved have lost population, while on the other hand, counties that have modernized their roads have grown in population and land values have risen.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has found that in Spotsylvania County, Virginia, from an investment of $100,000 to improve 40 miles of road the results were most surprising. Two years after completing this road the railroad shipped from Frederickspersonal contact with one another, each gives the other an impetus in life which minimizes selfishness and magnifies good will among men. And thus it is that highways and transportation no longer separate farms and neighbors, they connect them. A road is a tie that binds and the longer the road the more far-reaching is its binding and brother-making power."

The time has come when we must have good roads whether we want them or not. If we do not want them we will be left far behind in the march of progress. The dilapidated looking farm with a good road passing it will soon be a thing of the past. Such farms will soon be found only in the back hills, remote from good roads.

WIDOW OF POST MARRIED AGAIN

Weds Manager Of Post Tavern Owned By Her In Battle Creek.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 10.—Mrs. Leila Young Post, widow of Charles W. Post, one of the originators of Battle Creek's great food industry, and L. G. Montgomery, manager of the Post Tavern, owned by Mrs. Post, were married Saturday at the bride's apartments at the tavern, the Rev. W. S. Potter, Presbyterian, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery will make their permanent home in Battle Creek, and Mr. Montgomery will continue in charge of the tavern, to which he came about four years ago. Mrs. Montgomery is a Battle Creek girl. She was married to C. W. Post twelve years ago. She formerly was Mr. Post's stenographer.

Mr. Post died at Santa Barbara, Cal., May 1914, due to a gunshot wound, self inflicted. He left an estate of between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000, which was divided between his widow and daughter.

Mrs. Montgomery's home is in Camilla, Ga. He took the management of the tavern four years ago, leaving the Planters' Hotel, St. Louis. It was through this transaction that he became acquainted with Mrs. Post.

Mrs. Post, who was left a liberal share in her late husband's industries and properties, some time ago made a settlement with the estate, whereby she accepted about $5,000,000 in real estate holdings in return for her share in the Postum Cereal Company, which is now the property of Mrs. Edward L. High School Will Go Up Against Strong Team Saturday.

Saturday High School baseball team will have a chance to show its real strength, when it meets the crack team of the Paducah High School. The local team this year has won four games and hasn't lost any. The hardest game thus far this season was a game with the Western State hospital, which turned out 7 to 3 in favor of High School. Friday the High School team again play the team at the Western State hospital. The game will put the locals in splendid condition for that on Saturday with Paducah.

Tuesday was the first day that the weather permitted practice. Coach Mallory gave his team a good work out Tuesday afternoon. The lineup will be different from the lineup that played Earlington. As yet Coach Mallory hasn't issued any definite lineup for Saturday's game.

The game with Earlington was a financial disappointment, there being only 24 paid admissions at the gate. This game will be quite an expensive one and unless the patrons and students of the school rally to the support of the team, the athletic association will be in debt for the first time this year.

CREOSOTE FOR POSTS AND WIRE FENCING

Four Barrels Used With the Alternate Ones Heated by Means of Fire Beneath the Extended Ends of the Pipe.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Osage orange, locust, red cedar, mulberry and bur oak are the only kinds of timber that when used for fence posts last on an average more than fifteen years. It is becoming increasingly difficult in the north central states to secure any of these at the prices which prevailed in the past, and the steady decrease in the supply and increase in the cost of timber of this kind is turning the attention of farmers to the possibilities of substituting posts of cheaper woods that have been treated with preservatives. Experiments conducted by the United States department of agriculture, and various state experiments have shown that creosote is the cheapest and most efficient preservative, and that short-lived timbers treated with it will withstand decay as long as the more durable woods. In many localities there is an abundant supply of cheap timber which in its natural state is of little value for fence posts. By treating this timber with creosote the farmer can obtain his posts at a much smaller expense than would be involved in the purchase of wood naturally suited for the purpose.

The process of treating wood with creosote is a simple one, and can be done easily on the farm. The expense of the necessary equipment depends, to some extent, on the number of posts to be treated. It has been estimated that a double-tank equipment should not cost more than $50 and a single tank, capable of treating two lots of posts each day, should cost much less.

The posts that are to be treated with creosote should be thoroughly seasoned and stripped of their bark, both outer or inner, in order that the preservative may penetrate the wood. After having been cut and peeled they should be stored in piles through which the air may circulate readily.

The first step in the treatment is to place the posts in a tank of creosote which has been heated to a temperature of about 220 degrees F. Here they remain until the creosote has penetrated through the sapwood, the fibers are so hard to penetrate that the operation is an expensive one.

Moreover, after treatment, wood of this kind is no more valuable than cheaper timber. Experiments have shown that beech, birch, gums, soft maple, poplar, sycamore, willow and pin oak respond very readily to treatment. With these the cost is approximately ten cents per post. Creosote may usually be obtained from hardware dealers.

time required to accomplish this depending upon the kind of timber. Soft woods will be penetrated more readily and will absorb more creosote. When the posts are taken from the hot creosote they are placed in a cold creosote bath and left there for several hours. The hot creosote causes the air in the wood to expand and forces out part of it. In the cold creosote the internal air contracts again. The partial vacuum which is thus caused draws the preservative into the wood cells. The same effect may be produced by leaving the posts in the first creosote bath until the liquid has cooled. This, however, requires much more time, and if this method is employed, only two batches of posts can be treated in a day. Where there are two tanks, one for the hot and one for the cold creosote, the process may be carried on continuously.

The tank used should be large

Support for Grape Vines.

A good way to support grape vines that have been set in a row is with posts and smooth wire. Set posts very firm in the ground, about ten feet apart, on these posts fasten three smooth wires, fence fashion, and to these wires tie the grape branches with strips of goods of sufficient strength to hold the vines in place. After frost the branches should be well cut back.

"I don't know that I like that repair man," remarked Mr. Chuggins thoughtfully.

"Doesn't he do his work well?"

All Averse to Drugs.

It is the dictum of scientists that it is better to suffer the worst torments from pain and torture from sleeplessness than to resort to the allurements and temporary soothing and lullabies of drugs, for once the drug habit is formed the victim is directly within the grasp of the devil and damnation. This is the testimony of all who have submitted to the lure of opium, morphine, chloral, hashish, cocaine, heroin and kindred drugs, which have so multiplied within the last few years as to tell the whole story of the increase of the habit, which may be accepted in a large sense as indicative of the increase of insomnia and the conditions that lead to insomnia.

INCREASE FARM CROPS

Interesting Experiments in Crop Rotation in Wisconsin.

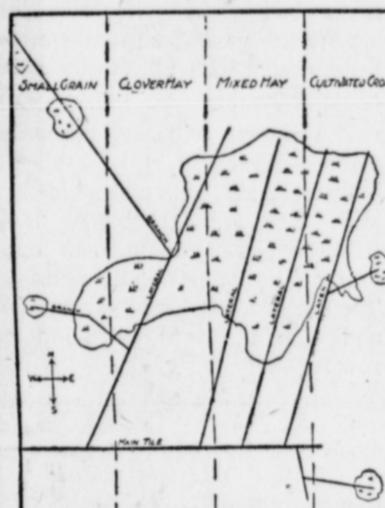

Plan Outlined to Determine Value of Drainage—Tiled Land Can Be Worked Much Earlier in Spring—Best for Truck Crops.

A series of very interesting experiments in crop rotation were made several years ago in Wisconsin, to determine the value of drainage. The following plan was adopted:

In the fall of 1910 a field containing a little less than six acres was tiled. The land for the most part was very wet and in the natural condition timothy hay would not grow on the greater part of it. Hedges grew on at least half of the field. Another field of about the same area and possessing about the same degree of natural drainage, was used as a check on the tiled land. Exactly the same kind of crops were grown, and the same treatment was given to the two fields so far as possible. Surface drains were provided in both cases. This land, both tiled and untilled, had been in meadow for ten or twelve years and consequently was in a poor state of fertility. This was especially true of the higher and better-drained parts.

The effect of draining was very marked in 1911, due principally to the fact that the tiled land could be worked considerably earlier in the spring. The differences ranged from 25 to 100 per cent in favor of the tiled land. In 1912 the effect of tiling was not quite so marked, as the dry weather of that year permitted of better drainage on the untilled land. The lateral were placed about seventy feet apart and were not laid in regular order, but more in the order of what is sometimes called the "natural" system of tiling. The depth varied from 1.8 feet to 3.5 feet.

On this land a four-year rotation was established as follows: Clover, one year; mixed hay, one year; cultivated crops, one year; and small grain seeded to clover, one year. The results showed an increase in all crops, the greatest increase, however, being shown in the cultivated crops. The average value in increase for the cultivated crops was $14.07, and for the grain crops $2.84.

For raising truck crops on land near a city it is especially desirable to tile. This will apply to such crops as potatoes, sweet corn, cabbage, rutabagas, strawberries and the like. Where potatoes are raised, more than half the cost of tiling will be recovered in one season.

PUREBRED STOCK IN DEMAND

When Pork Market Is Low Is Best Time for Buying Breeding Stock—Hogs Are Cheap Now.

When hogs are high there is a big demand for purebred stock. Breeders get more money because the pork value of their hogs makes them independent of the cheap buyer and because the demand is sufficient to take all their stock at good figures.

When hogs are low the demand for purebred stock falls off, and breeders are compelled to sell it for less than when market hogs are commanding good prices.

So when the pork market is low, when the demand is least for breeding stock, is the best time to invest in purebred hogs. Just now hogs are cheap and breeders have a surplus for sale at reasonable prices. And now is the time to "go to it" and stock up with purebred hogs.

Don't wait till everybody wants them. Get them now and be ready with a surplus of your own for the time when everybody wants them.

That time will come as surely as night follows day.

Attacks Fat Hens.

"Bagging down behind" is usually caused by the retention of eggs in the oviduct, followed by inflammation and tumor. When hens get too fat, eggs are often broken in the passage, and cause the same disorder. The tumors sometimes grow to enormous size, weighing the hen down. The presence of a male bird when a hen is in such a condition will aggravate the trouble.

Clean Wallows.

Add to the hog's comfort and aid him in bringing you a profit by providing a clean wallow in the shade, pouring a few gallons of good dip into it occasionally to smite the pesky lice.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR THE K. E. A.

Large Delegation From Hopkinsville and Christian County.

Supt. J. W. Marion and Supt. L. E. Foster are busy completing plans for the K. E. A. and they are expecting a large delegation from the city and county to attend the meeting in Louisville from April 19-22. A goodly number of trustees are making their plans to attend also.

A special train for the Western Kentucky delegation will be run over the I. C. R. R. from Princeton. A special train will run from Hopkinsville to Princeton for the benefit of the Hopkinsville and Christian county delegations. This train will leave the I. C. depot at 8:45 Wednesday morning April 19th, and the fair will be $5.55 for the round trip. Anyone can get the benefit of this special rate who cares to make the trip.

A special car has been provided for the colored delegation from the county and it will be a part of the special train. There will likely be twenty-five colored teachers who will attend the K. N. E. A. from this place. Present indications are that the delegations, both white and colored, will be the largest that have ever gone to the K. E. A. from this city and county.

Those in charge of this delegation urge that the officers and members of the Parent-Teachers Association and School Improvement Leagues make an effort to attend this meeting. In all probability a special department for such clubs will be added to the K. E. A. next year.

Be sure to enroll with Supt. Marion or Supt. Foster before you leave. Remember the day and the hour.

PASSOVER OLDEST JEWISH HOLIDAY ORCHESTRA AT BELMONT SCHOOL

Celebration of Liberation From Egypt Begins Monday Evening.

The Feast of Passover, commemorative of the exodus of the Jews from the land of the Pharaohs, will begin April 17. It continues for seven days among the Jews of the reformed congregations, while the orthodox observe it for eight days. The first and seventh days are observed by special services by all Jews. In addition, the orthodox synagogues hold services on the second and eighth days.

The Passover feast originally a pastoral and agricultural festival, has developed into a historical celebration. Especial ceremonials recall the bondage of the Jews in Egypt, the details of their suffering and joy at freedom from slavery.

A distinctive feature of the Passover service is the Seder supper, given at the homes of all devout Jews. The meal is symbolic of historical events. The roasted bone recalls the paschal lamb of the first Passover; the bitter herbs represent the afflictions of the Jewish race enslaved, the unleavened bread, known as the "break of affliction, baked hastily in the sun by the fleeing Israelites; the roasted egg recalling the individual sacrifice offered in the temple; the mixture of grated apples, nuts and wine, suggestive of the clay from which the Israelitish slaves made brick, and the parsley and salt water, symbolic of growth and freshness of spring.

Jews eat only matzos, or unleavened bread, during this feast, and all leaven is removed before the commencement of the festival. Passover is declared to be the oldest of all religious holidays.

High School Will Give Musical Program To-morrow Night.

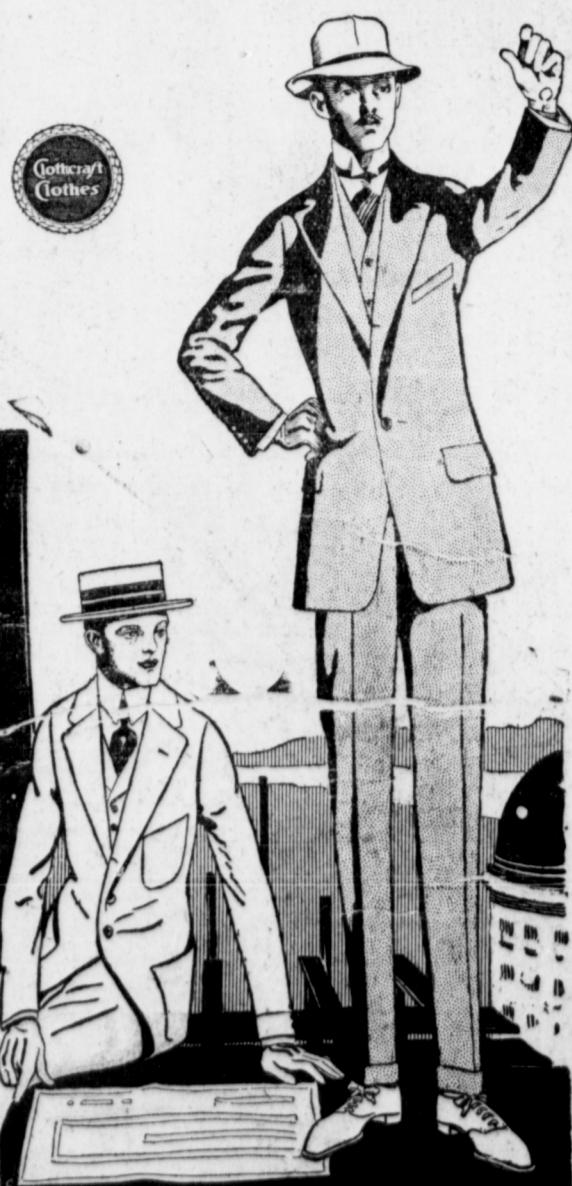

Quite a treat is in store for the lovers of good music. On Friday night the Orchestra will give its first concert of the year in Belmont Chapel at eight o'clock. An admission of twenty-five cents will be charged, but this is very little in consideration of the good music that will be played. As a rule only high class music is played, but several "rags" will be added to the program, as it is always necessary to play a little live music for the younger people.

The Orchestra is composed of: William Thompson.....Violin Henry Abernathy.....Violin Gus Stevens.....Violin Mose Klein.....Violin Robert Summer.....Violin Viva Locker.....Violin Mary Belle Bible.....Violin John Thompson.....Cornet John Henderson.....Cornet Alex Fowler.....Cornet Elmer Gerard.....Clarinet Manning Brown.....Flute Ruby Croft.....Drums Mary Virginia Stevens.....Piano Prof. C. N. Mallory.....Director

The Orchestra work this year has been under the direction of Prof. Mallory and the school is very lucky to have such a talented musician in charge of the music. Mr. Mallory can play both the cornet and piano. He has had good experience in directing music, having been at one time band master of the Kentucky School of Reform.

The concert will start promptly at eight o'clock and will last about an hour and a half with a short intermission. This will probably be the last time the public will have an opportunity to hear the Orchestra this year. The chapel at Belmont is very large and should be well filled on tomorrow night.

The Aged Minister.

The Episcopal church is trying for a $5,000,000 fund for aged clergymen, and the Congregationalists have started a $3,000,000 fund. Other denominations are making like efforts.

As many churches think a minister crosses the dead line at forty, they can hardly expect him to make provision for old age. As expenses increase his salary declines. The churches say they must have a young man to hold young people. There is something in this. Many ministers become prematurely old from losing the play spirit in their absorption in spiritual interests. They might well reflect that even Martin Luther played a good game too. The common recreations of ordinary humanity would help any minister keep in touch with young life.

But even with every effort to keep young, many clergymen find their last years pathetic and impecunious. The churches that shelve them at the age when other men reach the height of their powers, are much like children that won't care for a destitute parent.—Leaf-Chronicle.

Pike Follows Suit.

In compliance with the demand of the people of Pike county that they know who the commissioners are to be to handle the funds arising from a bond issue to be voted on at a special election to be held May 6, the fiscal court has appointed eight commissioners, one for each magisterial district in the county. The board appointed is equally divided according to political affiliation. The first bond issue for the building of good roads in Pike county will be for the amount of $500,000.

$16 For Tobacco.

The highest price paid for tobacco in Henderson for years was recorded at the Birk & Lancaster loose leaf floor Friday afternoon when bright unfired leaf sold for $16, says the Gleaner. This was the record sale of the season, with fired tobacco going as high as $12.50; trash $6 and a general average a little better than seven cents a pound.

A Bit of History.

The impeachment trial now on in Frankfort of County Judge Williams has brought the State Senate back to the State Capitol, the trial, under the law, being before that body.

Delvers into state history make the mistake of saying that the case of Ben Hardin in 1846, was an impeachment trial. This is not the case. Dick Tate was impeached and removed from office in 1888, but the celebrated case of Ben Hardin grew out of a disagreement between him and Governor Owsley. The Governor, with the assent of the Senate, as the law then provided, had appointed Ben Hardin to be Secretary of State. Just whatever differences arose between them history has been very meagre in stating. The public records show that Governor Owsley undertook to appoint George B. Kinkead as Secretary of State in place of Ben Hardin, removed from office. In explanation he stated that the law required that the Secretary of State should live at Frankfort and be present in his office during all reasonable business hours. This the Governor avowed Mr. Hardin had refused to do. The assent of the Senate being necessary to the confirmation of Mr. Kinkead, the question was then taken before that body, which after a tempestuous session declined to assent to the nomination on the ground that there was no vacancy.

The matter was threshed out in the Senate by Mr. Hardin himself in a speech which has rarely been equalled for vindictive eloquence. It was at a time when the Mexican war was in progress. Henry Clay, then a member of the State Senate, had a son under Zachary Taylor. Other Senators likewise had sons and other relatives. Mr. Hardin himself had a boy who was killed at Buena Vista shortly thereafter. You may well conceive that Ben Hardin did not fail to ring the changes on the war situation, and on the dangers of the boys from Kentucky in their fight for the independence of Texas. It is said that he did not forget to recall that there were none of the Owsleys in the war.

Judge Lucius Little devotes a very entertaining chapter to this phase in his life of Ben Hardin.

Having gained his point, Mr. Hardin resigned, and was later elected a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1850.—Bowling Green Messenger.
